Comments:	The only concern I have would be the load that a working student will have to endure. These days cost of living is at an all time high. I know many of them that come through there are headed to a 2 or 4 year college. They want to get their cert/degree, but have to hold demanding jobs to pay for it. Most do not qualify for grants/funding/scholarships. On the other hand, I am glad to see some changes in the schedule and the dropping of some courses that were a waste of hours students had to take

Comments:	I looked over the degree plan for 2005, and it looks good to me. If I have any concern at all it would be going from 15 credit hours per semester to 18, might be a burden on a student that has to work to pay his own way. I guess the students that really want to go to school will find a way.

Comments:	Glad to see UNIX is in all plans.
